Principles	Prevention School staff proactively gather intelligence about issues between pupils which might provoke conflict and develop strategies to prevent bullying occurring in the first place. This might involve talking to pupils about issues of difference, perhaps in lessons, through dedicated events or projects, such as our ‘No Outsiders’ program, or through assemblies and circle times. Staff themselves will be able to determine what will work best for their pupils, depending on the particular issues they need to address. Behaviour concerns are logged on CPOMs and/or discussed with Aimee Whittaker, the Behaviour Lead or Donna Cater the DSL. We promote an ethos of good behaviour where pupils treat one another and the school staff with respect because they know that this is the right way to behave. Values of respect for staff and other pupils, along with our other school values and golden rules, are reinforced by all staff members, as well as by our pupils, on a daily basis, as well as during assemblies and in the curriculum, particularly PSHE. Bullying, as opposed to conflict, involves repetitive or prolonged, orchestrated power over someone weaker either by an individual, or more typically, by a group through physical intimidation, psychological, sexual intimidation, racial and homophobic abuse, verbal insults and threats, extortion and exclusion. There are different types of bullying, which may include but is not limited to the following headings: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Racist bullying • Homophobic bullying • Transphobic bullying • Sexist bullying • Sexual bullying • Prejudicial bullying, e.g. directed towards an individual’s SEND or mental health issues • Relational bullying, e.g. excluding or isolating an individual All pupils have a right to feel secure; to be able to trust without fear; and to expect protection from those in positions of care and responsibility. They also have a basic right to take full part in their education, in an environment that does not subject them to cruelty or create despair. All bullying is unacceptable, regardless of how it is delivered or what excuses are given to justify it.

	However, not all aggressive behaviour is intended as bullying. Behaviour, which appears to be bullying may be exhibited by some pupils (particularly those with special needs), without the intention or awareness that it causes distress.
Procedures	Victims of bullying will be treated in a supportive manner, and their worries heard in an atmosphere of positive concern. Dame Ellen Pinsent School will develop appropriate mechanisms for: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • making pupils who allege they have been bullied immediately safe • identifying and recognising situations where pupils are being bullied • encouraging pupils to approach a member of staff if they are being bullied. • investigating incidents and clearly stipulating what action will be taken as part of that investigation • recording incidents including those of a racist nature and the subsequent action taken, in line with school and LA policies. • providing appropriate training for staff, and support for the victims of bullying. • building an ethos of de-escalation and non-confrontation • making it clear that everyone has a responsibility for the safety of others • raising the awareness of adults, children and young people about bullying through such things as the PHSE, SEAL, Circle Time and No Outsiders curricula, Friendship Squad and Play leaders. Discrete training in homophobia, E safety/ cyber bullying during safeguarding briefings and INSET • ensuring that all staff, students and volunteers are able to maintain and develop positive relationships with pupils- this will be promoted and evidenced as part of staff appraisals • providing and encouraging a safe, listening environment in which adults and pupils feel free to discuss their concerns about bullying behaviour. • Providing procedures and policies around Esafety (see separate policy) And if appropriate: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • involving parents and all other appropriate organisations when necessary. • mediating between the victim and the perpetrators or perpetrator. • conducting an audit to identify where and when bullying is taking place and use this to inform the action that will be taken. • making pupils who have aggressive tendencies, aware of this issue through the Behaviour Support and Intervention Plans. There will then be an expectation that the pupil will consciously work with the support of staff to reduce this problem. • counselling • giving consideration to confidentiality issues
